The Science of Cultivation

At the Joi Garden, each plant is nurtured in conditions optimal for the strain, yielding products of distinct quality. Our small batch farm is crafted by design with quality and care in mind. We have woven decades of horticultural knowledge with the latest in automation and environmental controls to produce plants of unrivalled character and consistent results.
